The interest of those papers is altogether retro-spective, and they throw very little additional light on the subject. In addition, many of them have already appeared in print, so that the principal merit of the cation is to bring together, in the order of date, the various papers connected with the subject.

The announcement that Lord Lyons will at once replace Lord Cowley in the beginning of July as English ambassador at the Cont of the Tailories is premature. The Independence Beige says:—

A Russian Journal which represents less the ideas of the government of St. Petersburg than the aspirations of the old Russian party—the Monor Gazetic—refers to the presence of the Carria Paris, for the purpose of declaring that Russia and France have become fused as by a miracle, and that this took place from the very moment of the attempt made upon the two sovereigns. From this to an alliance offensive and defensive the distance, the writer observes, is short. The Muscovite print endeavors to prove that this close connection is commended to the two countries by their reciprocal interests, and still more by the faults which the Western alliance caused France to commit than by the advantage which Russia might hope to gain by it.

Baron de Beust, before returning to Vienna after the coronation ceremony, had a long interview with the Primate Archbishop of Hungary. The Austrian Minister solicited the active co-operation of the Hungarian Epis-copacy, in order to remove the difficulties attendant on the revision of the Concordat, as asked for by the last address of the Chamber of Deputies to the Reichsrath. The Archbishop replied that the Concordat in no way affected the privileges and rights of the Hungarian Church, which were anterior to the conclusion of that act, and to which, besides, Hungary had always re-mained a stranger, and intended to continue so. This repty is a decided refusal on the part of the Archbishop. The following paragraph is going the round of the Paris journals:—

Prince Mokellaye, son-in-law of Queen Pomare, is expected in Paris early in October. This Oceanic Prince is a Parisinn of pure blood, well knewn on the Boulevards; and, if we are not mistaken, the real name of the Prince is Rogues, and he held the piano two years ago at the Varieties theatre as accompanier. Probably finding himself dull in the isles he has made a pretext of wishing to see the Exhibition to return to France with his young wife, and to never go back to his mother-in-law's kingdom.

Movement in the French Senate-The United States Responsible.

The French Senate held a sitting Tuesday, June 18, M. Tropiong in the chair. On the minutes of the last sitting being read.

Baron Dryst asked to be allowed again to express his concurrence in the elequent language which the illustrious President of the Senate had given utterance to in the preceding sitting, and by which he so well expressed the sentiments of the Senate and of all France on the occasion of the danger to which two Emperers had been exposed, one being the Emperor of the French. But he desired that, to the expression of these sentiments, should be united the sympathies of France for a third Emperor, who also knows how to face death with intrepidity, and whose life is at this moment threatened by armed bands. It is a great honor, continued the honorable Senator, for our soldlers who went to Mexico to have carried with them only heroism, elemency after victory, and every generous and civilizing idea. But it would seem that in returning to their native country they have brought mark a country of civilization. It is of importance that from our higher Chamber a word should go forth expressing the wish that a great crime should not be perpetrated, which would be an indelible stigma on the tearbridge that the voice of humanity will be powerful enough to prevent it. Let us trust that the United States will attree to the last to prevent a misfortine like this; because it is upon that government above all, that the responsibility of it sould real. Such are the sentiments which I desired to express in the Senate. They are those of France, and will, most certaining and a powerful each own have not acquired more lustre by their valor in battle than by their sentiapproval.

The Pussuest.—The Senate cannot but form in the nobic approval.

The Pussuest.—The Senate cannot but form in the nobic words just pronounced by Baron Dupin. Not only does the Chamber share his emotion, but all France feels as he does. The whole world knows sufficiently the sentiments of humanity and generosity of our country to prevent any doubt on the subject being entertained. (Renewed approbation.)

The minutes of the preceding sitting were then adopted. Marshal Forey, detained at Nancy by the state of his health, excused himself for being absent from the sitting of the Senate.

The graduates at this school were—Missee Lottic Jones, Allason, Banta, Van Voorhis, Byron, Carlin, Francis, Finch, Jones, Lewis, Mullen, Martin, Parsells, Pockham, Patterson and Yackaberry. We would surgest to the trustees that long winded orators, who are not connected with the school, should not be allowed to torture the fair graduates with a spread eagle speech. His testimony related to having visited the complainant during her sickness, to her condition from the effects of the operation which had been performed on her, and to the appearance of the child. James Donohoe was the next witness. He testified to the visit of Archibald to the office of the Commissioners of Charity and Correction, in company with a woman who had in charge an infant, which Archibald desired to place on Blackwell's Island, he going security for its board. The child was named John Smith. This witness was followed by Sergeant Henry Burden, who arrested Mrs. Mavnard and Ratch Archibald. He was followed by Elien Kelly, who testified that she nursed the child in Blackwell's Island nursery, but that it died on the 28th of June. The next was Charity Ammerman, who conveved the child to the 1 land, and with the testimon's of Henry W. Boswell, whose statement went to corroborate the testimony of the witness Donohoe, the examination for the prosecution was brought to a close. The only witness examined for the defence was Joseph A. Candield, Morristown, N. J. The substance of his testimony which had any direct bearing upon the case wont to show that the child was not forcibly taken from complainant, but that she was willing to part with her child for $50, which she had received. The further hearing of the case was then adjourned until this morning, when other witnesses for the defence will be produced.

P. Ross, John A. Green, Jr., H. W. Slocum and others.

Slosson?
A. Yes, sir.
S. Q. Hare you been subprepased, as a witness, to give a deposition in this case in the Supreme Court, of Stephen P. Waterbury 7- Elmore P. Ross and others?
A. I have.
S. Q. When did you first know of the organization of the Merchants' Union Express Company!
A. They commenced their business some time last fall. I do not know the exact month. I knew the Company from the start.

10. Q. Did you know of the circumstances attending its organization, and primary distribution of stock?

where this sall was to be discussed; the meeting was called at Auburn for the purpose of discussing whether they would make the call or not.

13 Q. Du's he so state to you? A. He so stated at that time, and that he had therestores been in fevor of making it call, the call, because, as he told me, he mistrusted that the other members of the Executive Committee were in consultation with the old express companies for the purpose of winding up the Serchants' Union Express, for the purpose of making something out of it, and he was dissatisfied because they had not taken him in with them—they had ruied him out, as it were, that he had taken such a decided stand in favor of a call, that he would not dare get up in the floar and openly advocate the not making of the call, but that he would role against making a call if the others did.

19. Q. You stated that you agreed upon a form of telegram: A. Yes, sir [producing telegram]: and this is a copy. I gave him these names in the telegram because we had a young man in the office by the name of W. P. Sleight; of course, if he should send a dispatch of that kind, it was desirable that I should get it immediately, and this name.

20. Q. When did you receive the telegram from him? A. He was to send me this telegram if they decided not to make a call; they decided to make a call, and he did not wish the other shares bought; consequently, did not belegraph from Auburn.

21. Q. In whose handwriting is that paper! A. In General were to receive?

A. It.

34. Q. What further, if anything, occurred in regard to the purchase of this stock?

A. It subsequently saw the General, after his return from Abourn, and gave him vertal notice of the purchase; I gave the order to buy one thousand shares, according to my contract, on Monday A. M., May 27; I wrote to temeral Slecum, at Auburn, same day, and gave him notice of the purchase.

shedum, at Auburn, same day, and gave him notice of the purchase.

20. Q. Did you receive any telegram at any time?

A. I received one from Cleveland some days afterwards; it left Cleveland on the 6th day of June.

20. Q. Before you purchased any more stock?

A. I never purchased but the thousand shares; he was to beliegraph from Cleveland.

21. Q. Upon what subject?

A. Upon the same subject, whether I should buy another thousand shares or self the thousand shares that I had bought; this telegram (referring to No. I) does not correspond with that which I was to receive from Auburn; in a subsequent conversation he told me that he would telegraph, so that I would understand whether the call was decided on root at the general meeting of trustees, which was to be held at Cleveland.

28. Q. The Executive Committee at Auburn not having decided the question?

A. They decided to leave it with the trustees.

22 Q. Is that the telegram that you received from Cleve-land (referring to paper marked "No. 2, July 1, 1897, D. P. I., Jr., referre.")

A. It is, he told me that he would telegraph something in that form, that I might know—that "there would be another issue of Governments," or something like that; there was no written cipher or key.

30. Q. Did you see the Gegeral after the reception of that last telegrams.
